Enthusiasm for General Grant.
NEW YORK, April 13.—Last night the spectacle of a "Little Red Riding-Hood," which has proved a popular success, was presented, among other entertainments, at the Aquarium, in the final tableau, representing the distinguished characters of history, being hailed with greater enthusiasm. An indication of the popularity of "the man on horseback" was afforded in this surprisingly hearty reception given to the little fellow who personated General Grant.

Gentlemen stamped with their feet, rapped with their canes, and cheered lustily, while the ladies waved their handkerchiefs and clapped their hands with a will as he appeared and saluted the audience.

Sunday Law at Newark, N. J.
NEWARK, N. J., April 13.—The chief of police on Saturday notified the saloon keepers and proprietors of places where theatrical amusement is given to close up on Sunday. Discontent Among the Arapahoes and Cheyennes.
St. Louis, April 12.—A dispatch to the Globe-Temocrat from Topeka, Kas., says: "Governor Croft has just received a letter from Major C. St. John had a consultation to-day with William Cannon, an Indian guide, scout, and interpreter from the Southern Indian agency, regarding the reported design of the Indians to make another raid north this season. Cannon said that the Cheyennes and Arapahoes were very discontented with the government and were sulky and would bear close watching. The capture and turning over to the civil authorities for trial of the Chagoyenne chief who led the raid last year caused a great deal of dissatisfaction, and other tribes sympathize with them. Cannot think they can be quietly removed, and kept on their reservation in prompt and early measures are taken."

Indians Hungry and Dissatisfied.

ROSEMARB, D. T., April 12.—A telegram from Fort Buford, the nearest post to the British lines, says the Indians are becoming restless and beginning to move. The Yanktons are dissatisfied and scarcely controllable. A scarcity of food at Poplar River and Wolf Point is the main cause. Runners from several how the camps have made overtures to the Gros Ventres and the other peaceable tribes, with offers of presents, asking them to join the hostile movements. Unless more provisions are granted they will nearly all unite, and the various tribes once cemented, the Indians of the country will make a bloody campaign.

DEADWOOD, April 13.—The small band of Indians who a few days ago killed and scalped Private Leo Bader, of the Second Cavalry, and seriously wounded Sergeant Kennedy, of the Signal Service, were captured by Sergeant

Thomas B. Glover, Second Cavalry, with a detachment of ten men, and taken into Fort Knapp yesterday. The Indians surrendered immediately on the approach of the soldiers, not offering any resistance nor attempting to escape. Bader's horse and scalp-locks were found in their possession.

A Bold Robbery.

NEW YORK, April 13.—The provision and pork-packing establishment of Smith & Brod at the corner of Atlantic and Fifth streets in Brooklyn, was broken into by burglars at an early hour this morning, and, from the mass ner in which they operated, it was evident that they were professional thieves. The intruders entered the side door by means of false keys and proceeded to the safe and drilled a hole in the outer plate of the safe door. They then inserted some gun powder and exploded it, tearing the outer and inner plates apart and wrenching the lock off. This was done so cleverly that no damage was caused to the building. A family in the building heard the explosion, but paid no attention to it, thinking it was something that had fallen. A passer-by also heard the noise and thought it was a boiler exploding, but, seeing no person around, he did not stop.

The Nineteenth Street Baptist Church.
Rev. G. W. Brodie, pastor of the Unbaptized Church, delivered a special sermon before the Young People's Christian Association of the Nineteenth Street Baptist Church yesterday afternoon. The text was chosen from the second chapter of Hebrews, third verse: "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" The speaker in the course of his remarks portrayed a simplified plan of salvation, to which he invited the earnest attention of his hearers. The church was crowded with an audience comprising the leading colored citizens of the city, who took great interest in the sermon, the speaker being the warmer character was an emphatic and will do about that.

he supposed that the first thing to know was whether or not the court had the power, and he said that unfortunately he was not present the day before, but had been informed of what then transpired. He did not know if he had any objection to making some such arrangement if it could be done in accordance with law and within the power of the court. They did not propose to have this property tied up in court for a week or a month, but they would endeavor to wind up the affairs of the concern, but merely to take charge of the office and property until the question under discussion was settled. He did not object to the election proposed, provided that the court had the power, and they were for a mandamus to compel the old board to declare why they held their places in face of the election.

The plaintiffs intend to further contest the case, and another suit will be filed this week.

Last Saturday evening a number of policyholders of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company met at Polkinton's Hall, for the purpose of discussing the action of the court in setting aside the recent election held for directors of the company, and postponing an election which it was proposed to hold to-day for an indefinite period. M. G. Whiles presided, and the following resolutions were adopted:

Boston, April 13.—The last statement of John P. Phair, the Vermont murderer, who was hanged on Thursday, will appear in the Boston Journal to-morrow. He declares his innocence, and enters upon a lengthy argument to prove that he did not have justice. While the statement is interesting, from the circum stances of the case, it will probably not change any opinion that may be entertained as to his innocence or guilt.

Coal-Mining Prospects.
PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—A special to the Times from Hazleton, Pa., says: "It is learned on good authority that a movement is on foot for the formation of a combination, with every promise of success, at an early day. This movement springs indirectly from Judge Packer, of the Lehigh Valley Road, who sees the necessity of doing something. In connection with this comes a proposition indirectly

South American Cannibals.

Then, without a word of warning, the savage chief attacks the helpless creature with a club, knocking him senseless or dead with the first blow, and proceeds to dismember and divide the body among those present, who devour the remains even without the formality of submitting them to the fire. Like wild and children indiscriminately, whom they carry off to their homes and sell into slavery every year, without protest on the part of the local authorities or steps being taken to put an end to the infernal traffic.

The whole story seems incredible, and appears to be one of the vagaries of a luxuriant imagination rather than sober fact. It true, it evinces remarkable indifference to the condition of the Indian tribes, who have been conquered only to be left helpless and defenceless.

English Labor Troubles.
NEWCASTLE, April 13.—The proposition of the coal miners that wages be reduced now 6 to 7½ per cent. for various classes of work, and that the remainder of the masters' demands be submitted to arbitration, has been rejected. A long and fruitless discussion followed this action. Meetings were held to-day at which 17,000 men were present. They declared their determination to resist the masters' demands.

the Egyptian difficulty except after careful deliberation. No steps will therefore be taken in reference to the Sultan's proposition until France and England have had a full opportunity of concerting a common course. A dispatch to the Observer from Cairo states that England and France support the Sultan's right to remain in the possession of Egypt, and that the decision of England and France is known.

RUSSIAN ATTRIBUTES.
ST. PETERSBURG, April 12.—The Kief correspondent writes that the Russian government is obtained in the prison 200 days within four months. One of the heaviest charges, it will be remembered, made by the Nihilists against the Russian official administration was brutal treatment of prisoners, in consequence of which the health of most of them has broken down, many dying and some being driven mad."
